The 2009-2010 local winner of the Connecticut Fire Prevention Poster Contest is Sean Sullivan. Sean is a fifth grade student at Canton Intermediate School. Sean's poster was selected from approximately 150 posters as the best in portraying a positive fire safety message. Sean's poster was also selected as a Hartford County winner and will now compete to become the State Fire Prevention Poster.

The Connecticut Fire Prevention Poster Contest is an annual event in which fourth and fifth grade students utilize art to portray fire safety messages. The contest is a collaborative effort of local, state and private fire safety officials.

The Office of the Fire Marshal extends its gratitude to Collinsville Savings Society and Flatbread for their generous prize donations. The Office also thanks CIS art teacher Deb Beaudoin for her continued support in making this contest a success.
